REV. C.M. ALEXANDER: GOD'S COMPASSIONATE LEADER

Jeremiah 3:15

The Reverend Dr. Cameron Madison Alexander is an Atlanta hero! For the past 42 years, he has been a man of relentless courage...a fearless fighter... in addressing the holistic needs of so many of our city's disenfranchised people who are too often counted among the least, the less, and the lost.

Unlike most modern heroes idolized because of position and status, Reverend Alexander is revered for his extra-ordinary courage, leadership and commitment in responding to the needs and to the sufferings of God's people, regardless of their status or position.

As a nurturing pastor and charitable community leader, Reverend Alexander has a tender heart when responding to crises impacting our city or struggles that impact our city's people. Throughout his long and distinguished ministry at the Antioch Baptist Church North, Reverend Alexander has worked zealously to empower people and to heal the brokenness of society.

As Antioch celebrates Pastor Alexander's 42nd Pastoral Anniversary, we commemorate and laud our pastor for using the wonderful gifts, unique talents, and countless opportunities that God has given him for the benefit and the uplifting of others. When considering others, it is evident that Reverend Alexander sees with his heart as well as with his eyes.

Congratulations Pastor and thanks for making a difference in our lives as individuals and as members of the body of Jesus Christ.

A Message from the Pastor

My Brothers and Sisters:

Mrs. A and I are excited today as the Antioch Church Family and the greater Atlanta community gather to celebrate the 42nd Anniversary of my tenure as pastor of this amazing fellowship of Christian believers. As pastor, I am so grateful that the Antioch membership has made certain that my family and I have experienced a momentous and memorable journey since my calling in 1969 to serve as spiritual leader of this historic congregation. For that reality, I am so personally appreciative.

The preaching and teaching the Gospel of Jesus Christ has been my primary priority since accepting the call to preach some 57 years ago. Proclaiming the Word from the Antioch pulpit has been among the paramount high points of my life's journey. Being your pastor has been a joyously rich and an incredible experience. I will always be indebted to the officers, leaders and membership of this Church for making certain that no distractions or personal needs have complicated my ability to minister to God's people and to be an uncompromised voice for Jesus Christ.

Thanks be to God, I can honestly say that all of my days at Antioch during the past 42 years have been filled with jubilant excitement and great expectation. While we have tried to be innovative and current in our missionary outreach and in our Christian Service, we have never altered or compromised the messages of God's Holy Word.

So today as we celebrate the longevity of my tenure and our incredible journey together, we have a lot to recall...a lot to reminiscence about...and even more to be thankful for. God has been gracious and exceptionally generous in showering His richest blessings upon Antioch and upon my family and me.

I thank the Antioch membership for the decades of love and support that you have shared with my family and me. More importantly, I thank God for the wonderful privilege of being His under shepherd at one of His "best" churches.

As we look to the future, it is my prayer that we will continue to work at finding solutions to heal the brokenness of our society and work even more aggressive to provide support and resources that give hope to those who are counted among the least, the less, and the lost. In so doing, God will continue to reward our compassionate spirits.

Yours in God's service,

Reverend Cameron M. Alexander

Rev. C. M. Alexander: God's Compassionate Leader

An Historical Narrative by Brother Barney Simms

Today we observe Pastor Alexander's 42nd Anniversary as our Pastor and celebrate his many accomplishments. Pastor Alexander delivered his first sermon at Antioch at the encouragement of his father and the late Mother Elizabeth Martin. The sermon was entitled "There is a Man in Town!"

Today, as we observe Pastor Alexander's incredible legacy of pastoral leadership and service at Antioch, we remember that sermon warmly as it etched an indelible mark on our hearts and on the growth and vitality of our Church Family.

During the late spring of 1969, the Antioch Congregation was ending an extensive pastoral search and had focused on five final candidates from which to select a pastor to fill the vacant Antioch pulpit. The young Reverend Alexander was invited as a "guest preacher" that Sunday Morning so none of the final candidates would have an edge on the voting process which was to be held the following Monday evening.

In retrospect, no one knew then that God in His infinite wisdom had brought "the man" to town to fill the void in His pulpit at Antioch. After 42 remarkable years of servant leadership, the Man is Still in Town...still preaching the Gospel, baptizing new converts, marrying couples, dedicating babies, celebrating home goings, and caring for "the least of these," while developing and mentoring ministers, church leaders, and feeding God's flock.

For the past 42 years, the Reverend Dr. Cameron Madison Alexander has provided outstanding leadership as the pastor extraordinaire of one of God's best churches, our beloved Antioch Baptist Church North! His servant leadership, steeped in strong traditional Baptist values that are Bible-Based, Christ-Centered, Holy-Spirit Led and Mission Bound, has had a profound impact upon the astounding growth and legacy of our congregation.

Born in Atlanta, the son of an "old-fashioned" preacher, Pastor Alexander was educated in the Atlanta Public Schools, graduating from Booker T. Washington High School. He attended Florida A & M University and graduated from Morehouse College and the Morehouse School of Religion. When he accepted the Call to Antioch in 1969, he was well prepared for the myriad of difficult challenges that he would face at a church of historical significance that had lost its robust congregation.

Even as a young minister, Pastor Alexander knew if Antioch was to be restored into a healthy, strong church, he had to spend time retooling and strengthening its foundation; clarifying in the minds of everyone involved—deacons, trustees, lay leaders and members—exactly why the Church exists! The healing power that our congregation gained from Pastor Alexander's teachings and preaching during his first five years of leadership were remarkable. It united us in purpose and prepared us for the most ambitious growth and building programs in our church's 134 year history.

Pastor Alexander's impact at Antioch was felt immediately upon his arrival! He wasted little time in reuniting the Church's dwindling membership; fostering morale, instituting numerous innovative and varied programs to enlist the entire congregation in Christian works appropriate to interests and specializations. During the early 1970's, he provided leadership for the congregation to amass parcel after parcel of land surrounding the Church for future growth and to accommodate the vision for his exemplary outreach ministry that would holistically address the needs of the congregation and surrounding Fifth Ward Community.

In 1986, when he believed the congregation was ready to build a new worship center, Pastor Alexander commissioned a demographic study which recommended the relocation of Antioch into a more pleasant suburban community away from the challenges of the inner city. The study underscored facts that the majority of the membership, which had grown from less than 500 that were here when he arrived to more than 6,000, now resided away from Atlanta's urban core. However, Pastor Alexander decided then that for Antioch to be effective, the Church had to be near the people in need of help and not down some shady tree-lined suburban lane.

To the chagrin of the demographers, Pastor Alexander accelerated his building plans by acquiring 42 additional parcels of land, demolished the existing houses on the properties, and led the congregation in building Antioch's current multi-million dollar worship center and adjoining administrative wing at its same location at 540 Kennedy Street (now named Cameron M. Alexander Boulevard), the very location that the demographers had deemed economically depressed. The new worship center was dedicated in 1990, twenty years after the promise that he made to the congregation shortly after his arrival as pastor. He had made believers of those who were his naysayers.

Pastor Alexander understood clearly that the city and community knew Antioch as "a rock in a weary land" and as a catalyst for change. Since Antioch has remained in its neighborhood location, the Georgia Dome has been built, the World Congress Center has been enlarged into a gigantic convention center, the international headquarters for The Coca-Cola Company have been anchored, and Antioch has partnered with the Atlanta Development Authority to develop the Northyards Business Park. The City's leadership has since thanked Pastor Alexander for spurring development in a depressed area so close to downtown Atlanta.

Under God's direction, Pastor Alexander has been blessed to grow Antioch into a wonderful example of a strong Church that stands as a beacon of hope and an anchor in its community. His ministry combines the trained eye of the academician, the imagination and resourcefulness of the missionary, and the empathetic understanding of the loving pastor. His pulpit style has been described as captivating! Our pastor has both the power and gift of persuasion. The Atlanta Tribune Magazine has described his theology as a "possible collaboration between Martin Luther King, Jr. and Malcolm X, from a fusion of their respective emphasis on divine love and divine justice."

Since the early days of his ministry at Antioch, Pastor Alexander has been serious about healing what he calls "the broken society." His compassion for the poor and overlooked has been chronicled and praised in local and national publications. He has been fearless in his efforts to serve those who are all too often counted among the least, the less, and the lost.

In 1991, Pastor Alexander provided visionary leadership for Antioch to acquire the 12-story Walton Hotel in downtown Atlanta for one million dollars and transformed it into apartments for the working homeless. Originally called the Walton House, it has since been renamed the Madison House as a tribute to Pastor Alexander's works for the poor and the disenfranchised. Also in 1991, Pastor Alexander established his nationally acclaimed Antioch Urban Ministries, Inc. as the cornerstone of his outreach ministry. A non-profit, charitable organization inspired by the six ministries in the Book of Matthew, AUMI provides housing and a variety of supportive services for recovering addicts, and persons with AIDS or who are HIV positive and persons with noninfectious tuberculosis.

Committed to the revitalization of the English Avenue Community where the Antioch congregation has worshipped for the past 134 years, Pastor Alexander established the Bethursday Development Corporation in 1994 as a community development extension of the Antioch Baptist Church North. This non-profit, named to commemorate the Bethursday Prayer Band that was founded by eight former slaves that evolved into our beloved Antioch Baptist Church, has become a major stakeholder and real estate developer in the community. Most recently, the corporation provided leadership in the building of the Gateway Apartment complex, 261 affordable units which features fantastic views of downtown Atlanta, an Olympic size swimming pool, fitness center, and a business center with a 400 car parking deck. The Bethursday Corporation is marketing and selling 38 market rate town homes that it developed on Elm Street, just three blocks from the Antioch campus. These two-story homes feature 2 and 3 bedroom units with detached 2-car garages enclosing outdoor courtyards. Other Bethursday developments and partnerships addressing the affordable housing shortage are scattered across the city.

In 1997, Pastor Alexander led the congregation in purchasing the Selig business plaza (located on Northside Drive adjacent the worship center) to house the offices and administrative staff for AUMI, the Bethursday Corporation and the Church's Human Services Department.

In 1999, Pastor Alexander encouraged the congregation to purchase surrounding property and a multi-purpose building at 590 North Avenue. Known to the congregation as "the 590," the building hosts a variety of congregation events and is used most frequently for youth activities.

In 2001, Pastor Alexander provided leadership for Antioch's purchase of an additional eleven "prized" acres of land located between Simpson and Kennedy Streets. The purchase was considered a prize inasmuch as several major developers wanted the property. Also, four additional adjacent acres were purchased from the CSX Railroad. These additional acres have expanded the immediate Antioch campus holdings into 38 valuable downtown acres that will support future church growth and prevent the Church from becoming land-locked in the community where the Church has called home for 134 years.

While many congregations, especially those that are as old as Antioch, often split and reorganize for a variety of reasons, under Pastor Alexander's leadership, Antioch has successfully established nine missions, four of which have become strong, thriving congregational churches. These new congregations serve as living testimonies that Pastor Alexander's commitment to the spread of the Gospel and God's teachings are important to him as a person and especially to him as a minister.

Pastor Alexander has become one of the nation's best known ministers. He is a former vice president of the National Baptist Convention, USA, Inc. and is the president emeritus of the General Missionary Baptist Convention of Georgia, Inc. where he served as the body's illustrious president for 29 years. During his long and distinguished legacy of leadership with the GMBC, he served as Host and the General Chairman for the 1985, 1992 and 2005 National Baptist Conventions that were held in Atlanta. In 1994, He served as the Co-Chair for the Reverend Billy Graham's Atlanta Crusade. Also in 1994, Pastor Alexander was a key player and major sponsor in bringing South African President Nelson Mandela to Atlanta, his first American visit following his release and long ordeal from a South African prison. As his official host, Antioch honored Mandela with a special luncheon in fellowship hall with a guest list that included national and international dignitaries from all walks of life from around the world.

Pastor Alexander remembers warmly his leadership efforts in working with the campaign to elect Atlanta's first African American Mayor, the Honorable Maynard Jackson, who appointed him to serve as the Chairman of the Atlanta Religious Mobilization Against Crime in 1978. Pastor Alexander has served as president of the Rainbow Coalition in Georgia, and president and treasurer, respectively, of the Morehouse School of Religion and a trustee of the Morehouse School of Medicine. To celebrate the advent of the new millennium, Pastor Alexander implemented the Community of Faith March through downtown Atlanta (1999) which brought together diverse religious communities.

In recognition of his illustrious ministerial career, Pastor Alexander was awarded honorary Doctor of Divinity Degrees from the United Theological Seminary (1978), the Interdenominational Theological Center (1991), and from the Carver Bible College (2007). In 2000, his alma mater, Morehouse College, honored him with its prestigious Bennie Award, the highest recognition that the College gives to its most distinguished alumni. His portrait hangs in the Hall of Great Preachers in the Martin Luther King, Jr. International Chapel on the Morehouse College campus. On July 22, 2008, the Atlanta Business League inducted Pastor Alexander into its Legends Hall of Fame. The distinguished honor recognized the significance of Reverend Alexander's influence, good deeds and trailblazing impact on Atlanta's vitality as a great city.

During 2009 a variety of well deserved major recognitions were given to Pastor Alexander as further testament to his influence on the quality of life for citizens in Atlanta and all across Georgia and the nation. In January 2010, he was inducted onto the International Civil Rights Walk of Fame. In February 2010, the Georgia General Assembly honored him with a Resolution. In March 2010, two of his sermons were accepted into the American Folklife Center at the Library of Congress. In April 2010, a documentary on Pastor Alexander's "Spiritual Journey" was profiled by the Atlanta Interfaith Broadcast. In July 2010, our own Brother Hank Stewart honored Pastor Alexander during his Eighth Annual White Linen Affair. In September 2010, he was inducted into the National Black College Alumni Hall of Fame. In December 2010, the Atlanta City Council approved the re-naming of Kennedy Street to Cameron M. Alexander Boulevard to recognize Pastor Alexander's historical legacy of leadership within the city. Most recently, he was appointed to the Global Advisory Board for the Center of Civil and Human Rights. As in years past, presidents, governors, senators, mayors and other elected officials continue to seek his counsel and wisdom regularly.

Looking back on his 42 years of servant leadership at Antioch, Pastor Alexander says he is proud of the loyal and consistent support that he has received from his family; especially his beloved wife of 57 years, Barbara (affectionately called "Mrs. A"), and their four children. And of course he dotes on his nine grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Pastor Alexander is keenly aware of the historical record of strong pastoral leadership that preceded him at Antioch. He gives special recognition to all of the courageous pastors who preceded him as trailblazers upon whose shoulders he proudly stands. He is careful and quick to give God the credit for his opportunity to serve as His under shepherd at Antioch, saying passionately, and "It wasn't me. It was God working through me. God deserves the credit. To God be the glory!"

THE PASTORATE

by the late Rev. Levi Terrill

Roman 10:15 states: “And how shall they preach, except they be sent?” As it is written, “How beautiful are the feet of them that preach the gospel of peace and bring glad tidings of good things!” This lyrical scripture states eloquently the mode of transportation of the early preachers. Our pastor, cut from the same mold, has served the pastorate well by bringing the good news to us in our sick rooms, during our lonely hours, during moments of despair, and during our times of confusion.

In Psalms 66:9, God is praised for not suffering our feet to be moved. Those who occupy the pastorate must forever be “steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord...” Reverend Alexander has stood in the gap for forty-two years resisting the wiles of the devil while teaching us to be strong in the Lord. His feet have not moved.

Isaiah 52:7 states: “How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings of good, that publisheth salvation; that saith unto Zion, thy God reigneth!”

The man who sits in the seat of the pastorate must always bring the good news and keep the peace and lead the way to heaven. Our pastor has certainly done that! Reverend Alexander’s forty-two years at Antioch North have been years of peace, joy, prosperity, and obedience for those who dwell herein. His sounding of the good news has pointed the way to salvation for thousands. Our pastor has kept his “feet” shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace.

The Pastorate requires strong feet, for the shepherd must lead the flock on the long journey. May the feet of this occupant of Antioch’s Pastorate remain strong, steady, straight, and solid. As his strong voice continues to proclaim God’s Eternal Truth, may his feet forever remain in the “paths of righteousness.”

From today’s vantage point, it is extremely difficult to imagine where our beloved Antioch would be if it had not been for the Lord sending one of His best under shepherds to our pulpit at a time when we needed him most. Just like a tree planted by rivers of water, Reverend Alexander has nurtured within the hearts and souls of the Antioch congregational family a strong belief and persistence that everything having to do with “Church” must be Bible-based, Christ-centered, Holy Spirit-led and Mission-bound. Having abided by that basic principle, today, Antioch stands tall as a place of refuge, a stalwart and an uncompromising beacon of hope that sheds a true light of promise at the corner of Northside Drive and Cameron M. Alexander Boulevard.
